

Digital Signal Processing

Marvin Lin

Portland Community College

February 6, 2022

Abstract

We give an example of what a paper might look like and means to be a template for the student's paper. T<sub>E</sub>X is not easy to learn, so we streamline the process with this template. Any technical questions should be Google'd and/or posed to the instructor.

For example, I may have written a book. [1]. Or I may have viewed a website. [2].

References

- [1] Write the author of the book here, Write the title of the book here, Write the publisher of the book here, Write the year the book was published.
- [2] Write the author of the webpage, Write the title of what they wrote, Write the year the page was published. Write the date that you accessed the page.